VOLUME XII

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 17, 1910.

NUMBER 41

Will Hold a Revival.

The special meetings to be held at Union Presbyterian church will begin on the 28th. Rev. W. L. Holmes, D. G., of Tennessee will be the preaching and Mr. Presley Clark, of Bowling Green, Ky., will lead the singing. Dr. Holmes is considered one of the strongest revival preachers of the South. Mr. Clark, who is favorably known in Columbia, has just completed his Summer's studies in the Moody Institute, Chicago, and is at present at Winona, Lake, Ind., attending a great conference of Evangelistic singers. He will in every way be ably prepared to successfully lead the singing. Three services per day, with dinner on the ground, will be held. For those who may so desire every inducement will be offered for camping on the beautiful grounds surrounding the church. The entire community is making preparation for the revival.

The best sewing machine made is "The Free" we sell them, also cheaper machines. Russell & Co. 40-21

There was some excitement at the Russell Springs Fair last Wednesday, and at first it was thought that the Sheriff was shooting at a man who was creating a disturbance, but he only shot to scare. The particulars, as we gather them, are about as follows: There had been some betting on a horse race, and the man, then referred to, lost and refused to pay. The winner undertook to make him pay and a general row ensued. The man who lost broke loose from the crowd and started in a quick run for the thickets. The Sheriff, not knowing the cause of the trouble, took after the man and in order to stop him, fired his pistol into the ground. So, the whole thing was a little excitement. We make this item because a report reached here to the effect that several shots were fired at the fleeing man.

All Royal Arch Masons in good standing are requested and urged to be in Columbia next Thursday afternoon by 5:30 in the afternoon. Late in the afternoon the most excellent Masters degree will be conferred and after supper the Royal Arch. Past Grand Master, O. D. Thomas, of Lebanon, will be here to inspect the work of the Chapter.

G. P. Smythe, H. F.

A great many people in town were exceedingly alarmed last Friday morning, about two o'clock, when the fire alarm was sounded and the word passed, "Edwin Hurt's residence is on fire." Men, women and children left their beds and were proceeding to the scene when the word came, "It is Del Cravens' hen house burning," and so it was. Her nest had been burned the day before and evidently fire was left in the building which caused its destruction.

I have an extra good buggy horse for sale. Also a nice lot of household and kitchen furniture. Fred Myers Columbia, Ky.

Miss Pearl Hindman, the County School Superintendent, takes this method of notifying the public that from this date she will not be in her office but two days in the week, Mondays and Saturdays. She will be busy visiting the schools, and this declaration will hold good the remainder of this year.

Last Friday afternoon a jolly crowd composed of Messadmes R. M. Currie, S. F. White, Leo Balfour, Misses Mamie Baker, Maja Endallia, Ina Hulse, Eva Oats, Myrtle Myers, Jennie McFarland, Edna Lewis, Madge Rosenfield, Ora Moss, Mary Hulse, Pearl Hindman, Cary Rosenfield, Edna Walker and Blanche Willis gathered at the old mill on Pettis Fork. At six o'clock a delightful lunch was spread and a good time reported.

Wanted.—at Columbia Hotel, chickens and eggs. Highest cash market price paid.

The meeting at Tabor Methodist church was continued into this week. There had been up till Sunday night, 4 conversions and about 10 others came forward for prayer.

There will be preaching at the Methodist church next Sunday as usual and the pastor requests all member to be present.

Wanted.—at Columbia Hotel, chickens and eggs. Highest cash market price paid.

Mr. John Spears, who lived in the Mt. Carmel neighborhood, died last Sunday morning. His remains were carried to Taylor county for interment. He was about 70 years old.

We go to press one day earlier next week on account of the Fair.

Are Making Good.

One of the best tent shows to exhibit here in many years is the KaDeL & Kitchfield Shows that are now located on the Mantis Mill lot. They opened Monday to a large audience. The amusements, however, our city are given a rare treat in the way of first-class refined performances at a ridiculously low price. One of the principal attractions with the Company is the very latest scientific sensation "The Cameraphone." This machine is almost life itself, and sings, talks and plays musical instruments with the pictures with a life-like reality that is almost uncanny. It is truly the acme of electrical appliances. The cameraphone is now making a wonderful run in the large cities and the KaDeL & Kitchfield Co., are demonstrating it on its first appearance through the South. Without question this company present the best entertainment ever given in our city for double their price. They are with us all this week.—Taylor County Inquirer.

A Tungsten Bulb will give you double the light you are getting and cost you no more. Sold by Russell & Co. 40-21

PREACHING NEXT SUNDAY.

J. N. Walbert, Big Creek.
J. R. Crawford, Edmonston.
J. A. Johnston, Elroy.
J. H. Root, Cave Valley.
J. F. Turner, Mt. Pleasant.
W. J. Levi, Mt. Gilead.
J. M. Morris, Pike's Ridge.
R. M. Currie, Columbia.
S. P. Stapp, Mt. Vernon.
T. E. Ennis, Pleasant Valley.
W. B. Cave, Pleasant Ridge.

A new line of Rugs 9 by 12 feet. $14.50 to $30.50. Matting rugs 9x12 feet $3.00 at Russell & Co. 40-21

Prof. Jo Monday entertained an audience at the Court-house last Sunday afternoon and also Monday evening. He is a fine speaker and those who heard him were exceedingly well-pleased.

A Big Novelty For Columbia.

The KaDeL & Kitchfield attractions that come to Columbia August 22nd for one week, is without doubt the most interesting show now for the Public. They have the finest canvas play house in America, this one feature alone is worth more than the admission charged. These people are highly recommended by the press over all Kentucky.

Columbia people will have a chance to see right here at home a first-class Company at popular prices. A guaranteed attraction. Prices 15c and 25c.

Next week, while the Fair is in progress, this office will be kept open each night until eleven o'clock in the forenoon and from three to six o'clock in the afternoon. Persons who may want to transact business with the office will please call.

Have received "new stock, mid-summer styles, in shirts, ties, hosiery, suit collars, suspenders, belts, &c."

Russell & Co. 40-21

The Fair will open next Tuesday morning and it is hoped that good order will be observed during the four days. If any one should so far forget himself and create a disturbance, the County Judge will be present to issue warrants of arrest.

Secure an Education.

The State Normal School at Bowling Green, Ky., offers an excellent opportunity to young people desiring an education. The Fall Session opens September 6, 1910. Write for information. 41-21

All persons 70 years old and over are admitted free to the Columbia Fair. The printing of tickets have been delayed and those entitled to one will call on the Secretary or at the gate.

STABBED TO DEATH.

J. C. Poppewell, Merchant at Russell Springs Uses His Knife on Ed Miller in Self Defense.

DEATH FOLLOWS IN A FEW HOURS.

A serious difficulty occurred at the Russell Springs late last Thursday afternoon, resulting in the death of Ed Miller, who was mortally wounded by J. C. Poppewell.

The particulars as we gather them, from parties who were at the Spring, about as follows: Mr. Poppewell is a merchant, a very quiet gentleman, a partner of Mr. J. E. Smith in the two conducting a general Store. Late in the afternoon Miller visited the store in an intoxicated condition and raised a disturbance. Mr. Poppewell left the store room and went outside, taking a seat upon a box or barrel. Miller came out, pistol in hand, threatening to shoot Poppewell, who did not have a revolver. Several parties came up while Miller was making threats, and to one of the bystanders he handed his pistol. He then walked up to Poppewell, striking him a severe blow in the face. As soon as the lick was struck, Poppewell drew his knife and commenced cutting, and when the trouble was over he knew that Miller could not live but a few hours. He died early next morning.

Those who witnessed the trouble say that Mr. Poppewell was perfectly justifiable.

We have the largest stock of shoes in South Central Kentucky—bought direct from manufacturers. Now receiving fall styles. Russell & Co. 40-21

The Fair Grounds are in fine shape. The grandstand has been recovered, the abundance of cool water, and the grass in the grove mowed. Come and have an enjoyable week, seeing fine stock and listening to inspiring music rendered by Wherley's famous Louisville Band.

Course in Agriculture.

The Western Kentucky State Normal offers a practical course of study in Elementary Agriculture. Demonstration and actual work done on school farm. Teachers will have an opportunity to prepare for teaching the subject. Great opportunities offered young men who expect to make farming a life work. Course begins Sept. 6, 1910. Write for information. Address H. H. Cherry, President, Bowling Green, Ky. 41-21

The people from Columbia and out in the county who attended the Russell Springs Fair, report a good showing of stock, the attendance large the two last days, and that the Association made some money. The Monticello Band made the music, rendering many very fine selections.

The longest and most expensive stretch of concreting is now being put down by Mr. J. N. Coffey. At a low estimate his concreting will cost him between five and six hundred dollars. It will probably add a great deal more than that amount to the value of his property.

Lost.—A small black dog, white breasted. Last seen in Cave Valley country. I will pay for information that will lead to his recovery.

H. O. Grider, Russell Springs, Ky.

The open air gospel services conducted on the lawn of Mr. Jas. Russell's home on Sunday afternoon was largely attended. The next service will be on Greensburg street, at the home of Mr. Allen Walker.

The Taylor County Baptist Bible Institute will be held at Friendship Church, Bengal, Taylor county, Tuesday, August 30, 1910. An interesting program has been arranged and there will be dinner on the ground. Those who are to speak have doubtless received a program and know the subject each has been assigned.

Lost. A pair of gold spectacles between Baker's Store and Columbia. The finder will be rewarded. Send or leave them at this office. J. P. Hutchison.

Rev. W. J. Levi is in a big meeting at Greasy Creek Church, Green county. Up to the 10th of this month there have been sixty-two additions to the Baptist Church. The meeting will likely continue through this week.

There are thirty people in the theatrical troupe that will entertain all Fair week.

Death of Judge M. C. Sautley.

The intelligence of the sudden death of Judge M. C. Sautley, received in this town last Saturday morning, brought sorrow to many homes, deceased having many friends and admirers in Columbia, where he was partly educated and where he taught in the M. & F. High School in his early manhood. The end came suddenly at his home in Stanford Friday morning. He had gone from his residence to the barn to feed his chickens, and was found dead in the lot a few minutes thereafter.

He was a lawyer of recognized ability, a finished scholar, a polished and eloquent gentleman. When the war of the rebellion broke out, Judge Sautley espoused the cause of the South and joined the Confederate army, going to war, if we have been correctly informed, from this place. For his military efficiency he was soon promoted to the rank of first Lieutenant and served faithfully until hostilities ceased. He was born and reared in Monticello, Wayne county, but when he returned to Kentucky he located at Stanford, Lincoln county, where he successfully practiced law until he went out on the bench. He was serving his third term as Circuit Judge when the end came. In 1888 he was appointed by President Cleveland Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the territory of Wyoming, remaining in the West until it was admitted to Statehood.

The funeral services were held at Stanford Sunday afternoon, many prominent people from different sections of the State being in attendance. Gov. J. R. Hindman and Dr. J. H. Grady, of this place, the latter being a brother-in-law of the deceased, attended the services.

FROM A FRIEND

I want to write a line expressing my feelings on reading of the death of Judge M. C. Sautley. He was one of Kentucky's purest and ablest public men. Brave as a soldier; scholarly and eloquent as a speaker. No man of his day could use cleaner and purer English when he spoke than Judge Sautley. He was one of Kentucky's very finest lawyers and graced the bench in the State for a long time. He disliked anything which savored of dishonesty. He was the soul of honor. I had known him for more than 40 years and had always admired him for his ability and his high character, and I want to drop a flower on his grave. Men like him are few now. J. R. Hindman.

Notice.

Sarah J. Webb et al, Plffs vs Romulus B. Foley, Deft.

To satisfy execution No. 1844 which issued from the office of the clerk of the Adair Circuit Court on the 21st day of July 1910, in favor of the Master Commissioner of the Adair Circuit Court against Romulus B. Foley for the sum of $308.42. Three hundred five and 42 cents, with 6 per cent annuity interest from the 25th day of September 1909, until paid; Also sixty cents the cost of this action.

It will on Monday the 5th day of September 1910, the same being the first day of a regular term of the Adair County Court, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereafter, offer for sale to the highest bidder on a credit of three months, the following described property or a sufficiency thereof to satisfy said debt, interest and cost.

One undivided ninth of two tracts of land in Adair County, Kentucky, on the waters of green river, as the property of Romulus B. Foley. The first tract contains 651 acres and the second tract contains 40 acres and lies adjoining the first named tract, and are the same two tracts of land conveyed to G. A. C. Foley by S. S. Williams and wife by deed bearing date of February 22nd, 1905, and now of record in the Adair County Clerk's Office, in deed book 21, page 71, and the same land on which G. A. C. Foley lived at the time of his death, and to said deed reference is made for more particular description. This levy is made and sale will be made subject to a homestead therein owned by Sarah J. Webb as widow of G. A. C. Foley. Purchaser will be required to execute bond with good security and bearing interest from date until paid. Thirdly, 1910. A. D. Patterson, 41-21 S. A. C.

Every night during the Fair a first-class theatrical troupe will entertain on the Miller lot on Water street. The tent will seat 1000 people.

Pogies are people who stand in their own light. Don't be one, but buy and sell your property through the Real Estate Man. He is a lawyer who can examine titles and get up deeds in legal form. That beats law suits. 40-21

Death of a Good Woman.

Last Saturday, about the noon hour, Mrs. Eveline Vaughan, the wife of Wm. Vaughan, died at her late home in Russell Springs. She was about seventy-four years old and had been a consistent member of the Methodist Church for many years. She was a native of Russell county and had resided at the Springs about fifteen or eighteen years and was known and loved by every body in the community. Her death brought sorrow to many homes throughout Russell county, and an immense throng of people attended the last sad rites. She leaves an aged husband, two daughters and one son to our knowledge—Mr. O. B. Vaughan and Mrs. A. R. Humble, Somerset, and Mrs. John Payne, Denmark, Ky. The interment was at Jamestown Sunday afternoon. The News desires to extend its deepest sympathy to the surviving husband and children with the admonition that God alone can comfort the broken hearted.

The School of Music.

Persons desiring a full course in Vocal and Instrumental or Public School music, will enjoy unexcelled opportunities in the Western Normal. Write for special information. Address H. H. Cherry, Bowling Green, Ky. 41-21

Strayed.—from my premises one 2-year-old red steer. Will weigh 5 or 6 hundred pounds; has been deborned, but has about 2-inch stubs. Finder will be rewarded. J. R. Bennett, 39-21 Columbia, Ky.

R. W. Patterson, Silas A. Douglas and R. T. King, all Casey county distillers, were before Commissioner F. R. Wintyre recently, charged with making false reports to the government. They were held over, and bonded for their appearance before the Federal Court.

Every Little Helps.

That's why a man gets excited and "goes up" on his property when you ask him to price it. He will list it cheaper with an agent when there is no immediate prospect of a sale. Moral—Buy through the Real Estate Man. He doesn't prize you. 40-21

Petersburg, Ill.

To Adair County News:

I left Adair county two weeks ago and came to Louisville, from there to Bloomington, Ind., and from there to Patrickburg, Ind., and from there to Terre Haute; thence to Mattoon, Ill., and to Decatur, Rochester, Springfield and arrived in Petersburg yesterday morning.

When I left Adair county, we had been having an abundance of rain, and the same condition seemed to prevail all along my route through Indiana, but crops seem to be as fine as I ever saw in the State.

In Kentucky, between Lebanon Junction and Louisville there were many fields of corn partly drowned out, but corn generally looked fine.

From Louisville to Bloomington along the rivers, especially White River, there was considerable damage to crops by heavy rains, but Indiana crops as well as Kentucky crops generally looked promising.

I stopped over a day at Bloomington. It is the seat of Indiana University—a fine town of some 12 or 15 thousand souls. It is said by well informed persons that the morals of the town are not of the highest order. It holds the record for divorce suits.

Many Kentuckians live in Bloomington, among whom the best known to Adair county people probably is M. M. Rhorer, who was once a resident of Columbia. He is very wealthy, he owning a good deal of real estate in the town.

The most noted towns between Louisville and Bloomington are Salem, the birthplace of the Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State under McKinley and Roosevelt; Mitchell, the place where many of Adair county's boys come to work at the large Portland Cement Plant; Bedford, where there is an enormous amount of stone quarried and shipped to various parts of the country. The tallest sky scraper in New York City, (34 stories,) is built of Bedford stone.

Orleans, the place where the branch road intersects the main line, for French Lick and West Baden Springs, two of America's great health and pleasure resorts, called the Carls Bed of America.

I visited Mr. S. M. Bryant at Marion, three miles from Patrickburg, Ind. He was formerly a resident of Gentry's Mill, Ky. He is getting along fine and owns his home. I spent two days and nights with Mr. Bryant, and from there I went to Terre Haute. I spent only about five hours there. I was expecting to find Henry Vires, who was also a former citizen of Adair county, but I did not get to see him on account of his being out of town. From Terre Haute I went to Mattoon, Ill., over the Big 4 Road, through Paris. On this trip I saw fine crops of corn, wheat and oats growing in a very fine level country.

Around Mattoon they grow an abundance of broom corn as well as the staple crops of corn, wheat and oats.

Mattoon is 85 miles West of Terre Haute. From there I came to Decatur, a distance of 42 miles North West, which is a fine manufacturing town, and in as fine a section of country as there is in the State. I stopped one night in Decatur, and from there I came to Rochester, a distance of about 30 miles. I found plenty of Kentuckians about Rochester. I stayed two nights with another old citizen of Adair county, Tunwell Bryant. He works for Twist Bros., on the farm and is doing well. I was around Rochester four days, and came to Springfield, 7 miles, and spent about eight or nine hours in seeing the sights. I visited the State House, the State Arsenal, Lincoln's old Home and Lincoln's Monument and many other places of historical importance and interest.

I then came to Petersburg, 22 miles North West. I am staying a day or two with Alec Sinclair, who came to this part a few weeks ago. This is a good section of country—they can raise almost anything here. The old Salem Mill that Abraham Lincoln tended in his young days was located on Sangamon River, a short distance above Petersburg, and the cabin in which Lincoln lived stands down on the bank of the river.

Old Salem is now turned into a park of beautiful grass and shade trees and is known as the Old Salem Chautauqua Grounds. The Chautauqua is held there every August. It will begin the 10th and continue to the 25th of this month.

Yours Truly,
Robert N. Anderson.

How to Make a Burn Painless.

When living in Calcutta many years ago, I fell asleep one evening while smoking a cigar, to wake up to find the lighted end of the cigar on the back of my left hand, plus a burn the size of a rupee. The burn I dressed in the usual way with oil, etc., notwithstanding, the pain was so great I did not sleep all that night, the acute pain not subsiding till noon next day. Some weeks after I burnt my other hand in a similar manner. Knowing that oil had failed to keep away the pain, something put it in my head to try paper, so I tore a piece off the Calcutta daily paper I had been reading and applied it firmly to the burn, with the result that in less than half a minute I felt the pain getting less, and before the minute was up the pain had gone. Since that date I have had many burns, all of which I have rendered painless by the immediate application of a piece of paper.

As I do not remember speaking to anyone who knew of this cure, nor having found reference made to it in any medical book, I shall feel obliged if you will kindly let it be known. Seeing paper is within the reach of most folks, when they get a burn they have only to remember this little incident to avoid hours of unnecessary pain. The immediate application of any kind of dry paper will do.—John Garraway.

Farm For Sale.

I have for sale the farm known as the Cyrus Wheat farm, at Montpelier, this county. It contains about 190 acres well improved, good dwelling; all necessary outbuildings, well watered, excellent orchard, about 20 acres of fine timber, and excellent store house and one of the best locations for business in Adair county. The farm is a fine body of limestone land and produces fine crops of grain and grass. It is divided by the Columbia and Jamestown roads and would make two desirable farms. Neighborhood unexcelled. Good church and school near.

Will sell at a bargain and can give possession this fall. W. A. Coffey, Columbia, Ky.

Removing Stains.

Coffey in which cream has been used, is very hard to get out of fabrics. It is recommended to rub the spots with pure glycerine, then rinse in warm water and press on the wrong side. The glycerine is claimed to remove both the grease and the coloring matter.

If oil or grease has been spilt on the carpet, spread a layer of French chalk over the spot, cover with a sheet of blotting paper and iron over it with a quite warm iron. A paste of Fuller's earth may be used in the same way, only let dry and then brush off, instead of ironing. Repeat, if necessary.

Tea and coffee stains will generally disappear if boiling water is poured through the cloth where the stain is, while the stain is fresh. Javelle water, applied to the spots, then thoroughly rinsed out, will usually remove them, if obstinate.

Fresh grass stains should be soaked in alcohol, or in molasses. Some claim they should be greased with lard before using the alcohol, but for non-washable materials, this will not do.

John G. Carlisle.

One by one the great sons of Kentucky, whose names are linked with her earlier history, are passing away. Gradually memories and traditions are taking the place of living personalities. John G. Carlisle is dead, and, irrespective of party, Kentuckians recognize that a man who brought honor to his State has left a gap in the ranks of its citizenship that will take a full-measured man to fill.

His political career was an ascending scale, from Representative in the Kentucky Legislature to Secretary of the Treasury under President Cleveland. At one time he was spoken of as a possible candidate for the Presidency, but his refusal to enter the race ended the boom that friends and admirers had initiated.

The story of his success in public life is founded upon a character that was flawless in its integrity and unrelenting in its industry. He was an able and impassioned speaker, who never attacked a subject until he had mastered it, and in debate he was a foeman worthy of the best opponent.

His death marks also the gradual elimination of those men who characterized the Cleveland regime as the acme of Democratic achievement in intellect and statesmanship. The party never fully appreciated the worth of that little group which the last Democratic President gathered about him—of bigger statue and broader gauge than any that have led its forces since.

It would be a strange tribute to the Democracy of the Cleveland era if the party convention in 1912 should name Judson Harmon as its standard-bearer, one of the few now left who had place in the Buffalo man's Cabinet.—Louisville Herald.

Pat was Scared.

The manager of a wild animal show was so unfortunate as to lose by death the only lion in his collection. After trying in vain to replace the loss he finally secured an Irishman to appear in his exhibition on all fours in the lion's cage, wrapped in the dead beast's skin. This plan worked well enough for a while, and the public was fooled. One night, however, it became necessary, in the course of one performance, for the lion to enter the tiger's cage. Pat pleaded strenuously behind the scenes against being sent into the other man's presence, but his employer was unyielding, assuring him repeatedly that the tiger was harmless. Though well-nigh dead with fear, Pat, after long and vigorous persuasion, at last crawled into the tiger's cage. No sooner was he in the cage than he lost what little courage he had left, and lay down, calling in a low whisper, "Please don't bite me; I ain't no lion; I'm an Irishman." The tiger appeared thoroughly disgusted and in a moment he growled back. "Shut up you fool, so am I."

Keep Up Her Milk.

Whatever you do, try to keep up a cow's flow of milk after she once comes fresh. It may be possible to bring her up again to a considerable extent after having dropped, but the undertaking is difficult. It costs much to bring her back even partially to keep her up from the start. With plenty of good clover and bluegrass pasture and an abundance of pure water, it ought not be hard to keep up a cow's original flow of milk at least within reasonable limits. When the pasture begins to dry up, give the cow some good protein feed like alfalfa, cowpeas or clover hay. If these cannot be obtained, in their stead give some wheat bran or a few pounds of cottonseed meal.

The Crippen case shows the marvels of modern science. The man was on broad a ship, unsuspecting of the arrest which was certain to follow his reaching a port yet the newspaper in this country and in London printed stories detailing the actions, every day, of the suspected man and his companion. We in Cites knew what Crippen was doing yet he did not know that anybody knew who he was. The wireless has saved ships and now it is the means of capturing a criminal.

The Fruit Garden.

Every farmer should have his own fruit garden. The consumption of fruit has increased enormously in the United States in the last decade or two, but strange though it may be, this increase has been in the cities and towns rather than in the rural districts. Too frequently the farmer's diet is restricted, and fruit does not enter as largely into it as it should. Every farmer's table should be provided with a bountiful supply of all the kinds of fruit that can be grown in his section.

Fruits are not valuable in the diet because of the actual amount of nutriment which they contain, but because of the aid that they give to digestion. They assist materially in a healthy intestinal action and their use in greater abundance will result in better health for the family, and to a considerable extent reduce the cost of living.

Moreover, in these days we hear much about various preservatives which are put into many of the canned goods sold on the market. If fruit is canned and preserved at home this danger will be obviated, and we leave it to anyone who appreciates something good to eat, whether the marmalades, jellies and preserves made in the farmer's own kitchen, by his wife or daughter, are not superior to anything which can usually be purchased in the stores.

The location of a fruit garden near the house will assist materially in making things more homelike, a point which every farmer should have in mind. Too frequently the fences about the home are broken down and their places taken by masses of weeds and briars, while the last coat of paint on the house was probably put there a considerable time since by Messrs Sun, Wind and Weather. These things should not be, and the presence of a well-tended block of fruit trees adjacent to the house certainly assist in making the surroundings more homelike and cheerful.—Ex.

"Spooning" in Public.

Public courtship was upheld in the pulpit by Rev. G. L. Morrill, pastor of the Peoples church, at Minneapolis in his sermon on Sunday. This was in answer to a popular appeal made to the city authorities to stop "spooning in the parks."

"Adam and Eve were placed in Eden to spoon and their children have been at it ever since. Mingling winds, nodding flowers, hills that kiss the skies, that mingle with rivers, and waves that clasp each other, are but a commentary on Solomon's words that 'two are better than one,' said he.

The rich have palatial parlors or private parks in which to make love, or they go to ocean or mountain by auto, train or ship, where they plan marriages that often ends in divorce and death. "The poor walk or go in street cars to parks and lakes, where they read books of nature, and learn lessons of repose, cheer, humility, economy and beneficence, then meet and mate and make happy marriage and home. Love making which is proper in the home or parlor is just as proper in a public park. What is wrong is wrong everywhere, in public or private."

Roundabout.

The very budding barrister assumed the approved legal look of indisputable superiority.

"Now, my good lady," he observed, shaking an admonitory forefinger at the woman in the witness box, "you do not appreciate the gravity of the question. Endeavor to concentrate what brain power nature has endowed you with and answer me. That relationship does the defendant bear to you?"

"Right-ho!" responded the good lady. "Is father's cousin was my cousin once removed, and is mother, marryin' me uncle's only brother?"

"My good lady," interrupted the bud despairingly, "I am not here to solve puzzles!"

"Well, I'm blowed!" ejaculated the lady. "You was talkin' jest nah as though you'd cornered most o' the brain pahr goin'. If you 'adn't swanked quite so much I'd 'a' told yer plainly an' simply 'E'se me brother.'"—London Answers.

Give the Turkeys Wide Range.

It is a mistake to confine turkeys in small enclosures. By nature they are roving birds and get their feed over a wide range.

Turkeys should be raised with turkey hens, because the young poults with chicken mothers will not range as widely as they should.

The young turkeys should be turned out in the fields just as soon as the dew is off the grass and should be allowed to remain out until dark.

If they are driven into the poultry house about dark and given a feed of grain or dry corn meal, wet and squeezed dry, they will, in a few days, return of their own accord.

Of course they must be brought in every night because if they are allowed to roost away from the poultry house they are likely to be destroyed by animals.

If the young turkeys can be induced to roost in a large tree near the poultry house, they will do very well there, because the tree is the natural roosting place for turkeys. We know a woman in Virginia who raised about 200 turkeys every year and they all roosted in large trees in the yard at the rear of the house.

An inclined board is placed against the tree so that the poults can get into it when they are quite young. Many of them continue to walk up the plank to the first branches even after they are fully grown, while the others use their wings to reach the branches.

Young turkeys cannot thrive in damp quarters. They should be well ventilated and placed where they will get plenty of sunshine.

Young turkeys should never be hurried or driven home or quickly forced into the poultry house. They are deliberate in their movements and should take half an hour or more to find their roosting places and settle down for the night.—Farm World.

WED. AUG. 17, 1910.

It is announced that Ballinger will soon retire from the Cabinet, that President Taft has the assurance that Senator Aldrich will not stand for re-election and that Cannon will not likely be a candidate for Speaker of the House. This is given out to indicate that the President is cleaning the Augean stables, that he seeks to embrace the Democratic sentiment so prevalent in his party, unite his forces and enjoy another victory. Now in the days of adversity he is willing to part from his political pals for the sake of victory when they have fought his battles, and he has openly endorsed them. It is not our opinion that the President is a true reformer, that he is a real statesman and that he will be able to influence many Republicans who are in favor of knocking out Aldrichism and Cannonizing Congress. Mr. Taft has sympathized with the people and pandered to the interests. He was outspoken for a downward revision of the tariff while a candidate and as an official he placed his signature to the very opposite. He and his associates promised prosperity, but they gave us uncertainty, fears and depression. Before his election the people, the country stood far above his political party but since his inauguration he has used the lash, it is claimed, to suppress progressive sentiment and solidify his party. In fact he wiggled in and will wiggle out for the people are in touch with the bitter pill they are forced to swallow under the thin sugar coating of reform promises. They want the genuine article, whatever it may be, labeled according to the pure food law. With a campaign for downward revision of the tariff, with a platform pledged for it, both overturned to satisfy the protected industries and monopolies that fatten from the hard earnings of the common people, the President is not in position to check the stampede that threatens to wipe out his party power in the next Congress. The G. O. P. is in dire distress. The President is trying to pacify and solidify but the people—the plain people feel and realize that the tariff is a tax levied to feed the overfed, to make the rich richer at the expense of those who toil and its downward revision is bound to come. The tariff can not be justified as a necessity for industries, it can not be defended as a means of advancing the people's interest—it is simply an avenue for unjust collections from the people to add to the massive fortunes. The game has been long and well played. It has bound Republicans together when all other means could not do it. It can not longer be made the test of Republican faith for the burden is too grievous to be borne. The President as truly as many others, sees the danger his party is in. If it yields to the demands it gives up the foundation, the very food that gave it power and maintained it so long. If it stands pat the people will overthrow it. The President's middle ground, of promises and his ingratitude to the standpatters are not likely to be accepted by the intelligence of the country as evidence of deep love for the people. It has come and is still coming just as we felt and predicted before his election; that no man who does not believe in the divinity of Jesus Christ should be President of this country for, even of large mental powers, he could not advance the general good. Confusion, depression, uncertainty and disruption now prevails throughout the country.

It is given out that the figures of the recent census will not be published until October. The population of the United States is thought to be 90,000,000.

Papers over the State are speaking in very complimentary terms of the candidacy of Hon. James Garnett for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General. The News will publish the expressions at an early date.

Mayor Gaynor, of New York, who was shot by a would-be assassin, is improving nicely and will recover. The Mayor has requested that the man who made the attempt on his life be not prosecuted, but an examination be held as to his sanity.

Forty thousand Knights Templar were in the parade at Chicago last Tuesday, viewed by a half million spectators. Hermann G. Gressmann, a Templar of Chicago, was caught between two cabs and so badly crushed that he died in a few hours. His wife was watching the parade and did not know of her husband's death until after she reached home.

Hon. A. Floyd Byrd, of Winchester, was nominated by the Democrats of the Tenth district for Congress at Mt. Sterling last Wednesday. He was chosen by acclamation. He is a winner. There are two Republican candidates, the present incumbent and an independent. It now looks like Kentucky will have ten Democratic Representatives in the next Congress.

Jo Wendling, charged with the murder of Alma Kellner, was landed in Louisville jail last Friday morning. His trial will not come up for several weeks as all the Courts are taking vacation. He says he is innocent of the crime, and has issued a call, asking for money to defray the expenses of his trial. That everlasting sweating of Wendling from San Francisco to Louisville has created a sympathy for him.

Mayor William J. Caynor, of New York, was shot and dangerously wounded, by an assassin, last Tuesday morning of last week just as the Mayor was departing on his vacation for Europe. He was on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm Grasse at the pier in Hoboken, N. J. when the shot was fired. The assassin was caught and he gave his name as Jules James Gallagher, of 444 Third street New York. He claimed that proclamations issued by the Mayor had deprived him of the necessities of life. If the Mayor dies the assassin should be electrocuted, if he recovers, the verdict of the jury should be imprisonment for life.

Russell County Institute Resolutions

The following resolutions were adopted by the Russell County Teachers Institute held the first week in August, 1910:

Whereas, the attendance of the children of Russell county at the common schools for the school year ending June 30, 1910 was only 48 per cent of their number, and

Whereas, the average scholarship on the part of said children is not as high as it should be, and

Whereas, these conditions are largely due to a lack of that fine professional spirit which should make the teachers regard each other as brothers in a great cause, and

Whereas, when Kentucky shall have become great educationally and as a consequence great in all the attributes of a great state, we shall not want Russell county to be a weak member of this community of noble counties, and

Whereas, Drs. Kimaman and Craig have been laboring toward these ends,

Therefore, Be it resolved by the teachers of Russell county in Institute assembled:

That, we work together to increase the attendance of the children of our county to at least 60 per cent of the total instead of only 48 per cent.

That by zealous activity we raise the average scholarship of our pupils;

That, we cultivate the professional spirit as teachers by speaking a good word for one another whenever practicable, by standing by one another in our work and our discipline, and by not applying for a position before consulting the present incumbent;

That we make "a long pull, a strong pull and a pull all together" to place Russell county among the progressive counties; That, we extend to Drs. Kimaman and Craig our thanks for the scholarly and masterly way in which they have pointed out the way to a solution of our problems; and

That we extend to the people of Jamestown our thanks for the hospitality with which they have treated us white among them.

A trust which proposes to levy tribute on every household from the home of the wage earner to the palace of the millionaire is the latest monopoly in which J. P. Morgan, premier trust builder of the age, is interested.

The trust had its inception in the brain of Charles A. Henderson, of Chicago, and is known as the "single service package corporation of America."

The purpose for which the corporation has been organized, according to its prospectus, is to buy and control all the patents covering the machinery used in the manufacture of "paper" and other containers, including a perfected paper milk bottle, and then to "lease" instead of "sell" the machines constructed under such patents to the consumer of packages.

In other words, the user of packages in which butter, ice cream, oysters, mince meat, molasses, canned goods, cereals, coffee, tea, cocoa, crackers, baking powder, phonographic records, dry batteries, gas mantels, stove polish, etc., must pay for the "use" of a machine to make the container, and the rate payment is regulated according to the number of packages made, regardless of the cost thereof.

The list of men behind the monopoly contains the names of representatives of almost every great trust in the United States. The President of the corporation and its controlling spirit is James Gayley, who, until last January, was the first Vice President of the United States Steel Corporation.

Poisonous Remedies.

Nearly everything used for killing house pests is poisonous, or has one or more poisonous ingredient. We read nearly every day of some child falling a victim to something of the kind. But in every case, parents, and those having charge of young children, should see that such preparations are put out of the reach of little, meddling hands. Older children should be carefully taught to let such things alone and their use pointed out to them. Many mothers are very careless in handling such things. Any receptacle holding anything that is at all poisonous should be conspicuously labeled, and to even the children too young to read, the dangerous qualities should be pointed out and explained. Children often have better sense than they are given credit for.

One of our readers has just sent in the following, endorsing it strongly as a sure destroyer of roaches: Get a bit of "blue ointment" of the druggist—five or ten cents worth, and mix it smoothly in a pint of coal oil.

With a feather, or small swab, apply it to all cracks, crevices and holes used by roaches. Do this at intervals of a few days, so long as a roach is suspected of being about the premises. But no matter what one uses in the way of exterminators, no house can be rid of them while Frenchman, 135, of a Belgian, 140 pounds.

A man breathes about twenty times a minute or 1,200 times an hour. He breathes about 18 pints of air a minute or upwards of seven hogheads a day.

The average of the pulse in infancy 120 beats per minute; in manhood, eighty; at sixty years of age it is 60. The pulse beat of females is more rapid than of males.

The weight of the circulating blood is about 23 pounds. The heart makes four beats while we breathe once. Five hundred and forty pounds or one hoghead of blood passes through the heart in one hour. The lungs of a man have 174,000,000 cells, which would cover a surface thirty times greater than the human body.—Canadian Outdoor Life.

Origin of Baseball.

Baseball probably grew out of the old English schoolboy game of "rounds." Some have adduced evidence that it came from the old New England game of "one old cat" or "two old cat," which may be true. The old game of tipcat may also be related. It was played by four, six or eight players, each standing by a hole or base. One of the opposite party threw the cat to a batsman, and every time it was hit they had to run about the bases. Probably rounds and tipcat had the same ancestry. At any rate, baseball belongs to the family. An Englishman seeing a baseball game for the first time might very properly say, "This is rounders made scientific." We took the old game, made rules and amended it until now it stands forth as the national game of America—Outing.

Getting a House Rent Free.

The Rotherhithe case of horses without owners recalls an interesting instance within the personal knowledge on an old resident of Walworth. For a quarter of a century a good house was occupied there by a family who were never troubled by the rent collector. They paid the rates and kept their secret.

But it got out at last and they were called on for payment of the rent—and all the arrears. This alarmed them and they "skipped by the light of the moon." The disturber of their peace then quietly took possession, and he had no more right to the place than had the victims of his bluff.—London Chronicle.

damp, dirty spots are allowed, or damp, dirty rags or soiled clothing lie in corners and closets. Every crumb of food must be put out of the reach of the vile pests, and an abundance of soap and hot water must be used everywhere they are likely to be found. It is said that roaches will often leave a very cleanly kept house, going to dirtier and more congenial quarters. Let it be a war to extermination, in every household.

Obituary.

Again the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Day was saddened by the departure of their beloved boy Elam, who died after a short illness of measles and throat trouble. This is the second death that has saddened this happy home in less than four months. Everybody sympathizes with this bereaved family.

"He that is born of woman is of few days and full of trouble," but God is love as the sun is light and has never failed to find time to pour the balm of healing into the hearts of stricken humanity. God is not willing that any should perish, and sometime we cannot see the good of all God's work, the good is there just the same.

The life of this little thirteen year old boy had never come in contact with the vices of this old world, therefore, we are sure his little soul found rest in God. When tired of dwelling on earth he sought a home where three little brothers stood waiting, at the beautiful gate, to welcome him to a home free from all sorrows and trials. Dear parents, do not mourn for your children as lost, but think of them as being with a father who can care for them with more tenderness than any earthly father.

Could you behold them in their heavenly beauty amid the radiance of that white robed band, your tears would cease to flow and the sighs of thy sad heart would turn to rejoicing.

A Schoolmate and Teacher, May 30th. E. J. G.

Mrs. Lydia Thomas.

Died August 1st, 1910.

Dear Lydia, thou has left us. Have thy less we deeply feel, But 'tis God that hath bereft us. He can all our sorrows heal. The loved form now cold and dead Each mournful thought reminds And nature weeps, our comforts fled And withered all our joys. Cease then fond nature, cease thy tears. Thy loved one dwells on high, There everlasting spring appears, There joys shall never die. There she shall behold the Pure Spotless, innocent and Saviour, She shall reign with him forever For his promises are sure. She stands with the saved and chosen In that bright and happy home, Where no family links are broken, Where no sorrow ever comes.

Far from this world of toil and strife, How sweet her slumbers are From suffering and from pain released, She's free from every snare. She rest untroubled by frightful dreams Of mortal care and woe, Nor wake to taste the bitter stream That through these valleys flow. Tho' cheerless our days seem to flow, Tho' weary and wakeful our night, What comfort it gives us to know That our loved one is safe in His sight. When we must leave this house of clay And fly to lands unknown, May we then in Christ be found Faultless to stand before the throne. To earth are born the strong and weak, To slowly scale the pathway steep; The Saviour is a shining light To guide the wanderers steps aright. When the Lord makes up his jewels And sets the starry crown, When all the sparkling gems shall shine Proclaimed by Thee, thy own.

There is a realm of boundless love, A goal for hearts distressed, Where all may find for endless years A home among the blest.

Yet again we hope to meet thee: When the day of life is fled, Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee, Where no farewell tear is shed. A Friend.

Facts About Man.

The average weight of an adult is 140 pounds. The average weight of a skeleton is about 14 pounds; and the number of bones is 240. The skeleton measures one inch less than the height of the living man.

The average height of an Englishman is 5 feet, 9 inches; of a Frenchman, 5 feet 4 inches; and of a Belgian, 5 feet 3-4 inches. The average weight of an Englishman is 150 pounds, of a

Get Well

If you are sick, you wish to get well, don't you? Of course you do. You wish to be rid of the pain and misery, and be happy again.

If your illness is caused by female trouble, you can quickly get the right remedy to get well. It's Cardui. This great medicine, for women, has relieved or cured thousands of ladies, suffering like you from some female trouble.

Gracefully Done.

The News quoted an editorial from the New York Press, published just before the Ohio convention, predicting the ill results that would follow a "bosses" convention.

The convention was thoroughly bossed. The re-election of Judson Harmon seems assured. The Press, instead of trying to put a hopeful face upon the matter gracefully admits that the Ohio Republicans are in the difficult position of a gentleman attempting to cross the bottomless pit on a rotten rail.

We quote the Press:

"A Chicago editor it was, several years ago, we believe, who sat down to write upon the two tickets named by the two great parties in his State, and, after calm reflection, said, for his 'leader' of the next morning, this and nothing more:

"When the Republicans name the man they have named and the Democrats name the man they have named, the editor of this paper takes to the woods.

"At the present moment, pending the holding of our own State convention, it is much pleasant, with Governor Harmon's title apparently so secure, to be a Republican editor in New York than in Ohio."

As the Courier-Journal observed the morning after the convention, if the Democrats do not win it cannot be said in explanation of extenuation that the gods were not propitious.—Frankfort News.

Old Tenth Goes Democratic.

The unanimous nomination of A. Floyd Byrd by the Democrats of the Tenth district, will add another to the list of the Democrats who will represent Kentucky in the next Congress. In naming Mr. Byrd, the Democrats have made the strongest possible choice.

There is no flaw in his record for courage, ability and character. He can and will command the full party strength against an opposition already divided into two hostile factions. With Field the Democratic nominee in the Ninth, it is now certain that Kentucky, after March 3, 1911, will have at least ten Democratic Congressmen. If a wise choice is made in the Eleventh district, it is by no means improbable that the Democrats will make a clean sweep in the coming election.

It has been a long time between Democratic Houses and Kentucky is preparing to take a seat in the next. Which is as it should be.—Louisville Herald.

Gradyville.

J. A. Diddle spent several days at Sulphur Well last week.

Uncle Charlie Yates is improving rapidly from his fall.

Mrs. Bruce Montgomery, of Columbia, spent a few days of last week with her mother, Mrs. J. D. Walker, at this place.

Messrs. W. L. Grady and Tilden Wheeler are taking in the Burksville Fair this week.

Mr. Phillips, of Lebanon, was here last week looking for mules. He offered Mr. J. A. Diddle one hundred and fifty dollars for a mule colt. Mr. Diddle refused the offer.

Misses Ruth and Rachel Crawford, of Columbia, spent several days of last week visiting Mrs. J. A. Diddle, of our city.

Mrs. C. O. Moss, accompanied by her sister, Miss Mollie Flowers, visited Mrs. R. L. Caldwell, of the Milltown community, last week.

Remember the protracted services at Union, beginning on Saturday before the fourth Sunday in August.

Mr. J. O. Moore and Mr. J. W. Keltner, two of our best citizens, spent last Friday in Columbia.

Mr. George Rodgers, of Milltown, spent one night with Mr. P. H. Keltner, of this community, last week and reported that Mr. Keltner has the finest crop of Burley tobacco anywhere in this part of Adair county.

Mr. Luther Bell and family, accompanied by the former's mother passed through here last Friday en route to Montpelier where they will spend a few days visiting the family of Dr. S. A. Taylor.

James Q. Diddle and James Wilmore spent last Saturday and Sunday at Sulphur well. They reported a nice time.

Mr. S. A. Harper informed your reporter that he received a letter from his son, Mont, a few days ago, who has been in the Standing Army for a number of years, and Mont's many friends are glad to know that he is still in the land of the living and getting along nicely in the army.

Mr. J. D. Walker, one of our prosperous farmers as well as business man, is on the market for any kind of young stock that is worth the money. He recently bought a nice bunch of young cattle all sizes and grades in connection with a nice bunch of stock ewes. Mr. Walker is a fine judge of stock and when he makes a deal it is usually a good investment.

We had the pleasure a few days ago of calling on Mr. Geo. H. Nell at his home and after the usual conversation passed over by callers he invited me to take a walk with him over his farm and take a view of his growing crop, and we are glad to say here in behalf of George Henry that no one in this section has as fine a prospect for a corn and tobacco crop as he has at this time. Mr. Nell has something like twenty acres in tobacco and it is looking fine for this year as we all know this is not a good year for tobacco, but to say the least of it his prospects are fine for both tobacco and corn. He also had us to take a view of his caned fruit that is nearly as numberless as the sands of the sea shore. The last but not least by any means, that he called our attention to was his turnip patches, just as nicely prepared as could be and we feel safe in saying if this ground produces as well as it looks like it would the Western end of Adair county will be well supplied with vegetables so far as turnips are concerned.

Austin Wilmore and Charlie Walton, of Louisville, spent a few days with their relatives at this place the first of the week.

Born, to the wife of Bascom Jones on the 11th a son. Mother and child doing well. This adds one more to the Democratic columns in old Gradyville.

We were all glad to see J. A. Caldwell last Friday as he came into our town with a full line of Bradfordsville overalls. James was looking well and just as jolly as when he was a school boy of our town. Come again James. I will ring off for this time as your scribe has been on the sick list for several days.

Milltown.

The weather is fine at present. B. H. Gilpin, of Campbellsville, was here last week.

Dr. Roberts, of Nashville, Tenn., and Omer Leftwich, of Indianapolis, Ind., are visiting Mr. William Breeding, of this place this week.

There were two Mormon preachers in this town one day last week.

J. C. Townsend was in Greensburg one day last week.

Mr. Ed Slinker, who moved to Mr. J. R. Tutt's farm several months ago, has moved to Good Luck, Metcalfe county.

There were several acres of tobacco pooled at the last meeting here.

Mr. Dan Gentry caught three extra large catfish below Feese's mill last week. One measured three feet and the other two measured thirty inches each. All three together weighed 25 pounds.

J. Q. Alexander was here one day last week.

Otis Moss, Greensburg, passed through here one day last week.

J. H. Caldwell, of Columbia, was here one day last week.

Several from this place attended John Robinson's show at Lebanon last Thursday.

MILLTOWN, NO. 2.

Dr. J. H. Grady, of Columbia, was here last week.

W. R. Lyon, of Campbellsville, was here last Wednesday, calling on our merchants.

R. L. Davis, of Columbia, was in our town last week.

Mr. A. M. Mercer was in Greensburg last Thursday.

Farmers are about through with the harvest, and the yield is not as good as was expected.

J. H. Slinker, of Portland, was here last week.

Mr. J. M. Campbell, representing the Cumberland Grocery Co., of Lebanon, was here last week.

Mr. Tandy Ellis and Joseph E. Johnson spoke here to large crowd of farmers in the school house here last Thursday night. After the speaking the pledges were opened to the people, and nearly every one signed up his tobacco for the year of 1910.

In all up-to-date countries real estate transfers are made through Agents. The people of Adair county are catching on.

Cane Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Edgerton were visiting the latter's brother, Mr. Jno. Sharp in Cumberland county last week.

Miss Lizzie Blevens of Campbellsville, was visiting several days of last week at this place.

Mr. Ed Vanhoy has contracted for a new residence one mile south of this place on the Columbia pike.

T. A. Furkin, Bob Hancock, Jake Vanhoy, Willie Callison, Susie Kate Page, Mary Feese, Bill Hancock, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelley, attended the Russell Springs Fair last week.

Miss Amanda Butler, a popular young lady of the Mt. Pleasant neighborhood, was visiting her cousin, Mrs. Wm. Kelley last week. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley are quite pleasant and if you want to have a nice time give them a call.

Attis McFarland, county clerk of Russell, and brother of John and Solie McFarland of this place, arrived here last Thursday from Bell Plains Kansas, where he had been visiting his brother Jo., Attis is quite a model young man, and after his pleasant visit West, he is now better satisfied with old Ky.

T. A. Furkin's horse took two premiums at the Russell Springs Fair last week, Bill Hancock took one on his mare and Bill Kelley took one on his pony, and all will be present at the Columbia Fair next week.

Mr. Ode Nethery of Mt Eden, is visiting his sister Mrs. Willie McAllister.

Aunt Sallie Callison is confined to her room with rheumatism.

Eskota, Texas.Adair County News:

I will write a line or so to the News to let my friends know how I am getting along. I am with my same old job, with the T. & P. Rail Road Telegraphing, liking the job better all the time, and I have got married since I was in Kentucky last, and of course I got the best girl in West Texas, I think. We are keeping house, getting along fine. We expect to visit in Kentucky in the near future, then you can see how you like my choice. As to crops in this country, they are just about a failure. The feed stuff is gone. There won't be any feed made at all on account of the drouth, and if it don't rain soon the little cotton will be gone, but it don't seem to worry the people much. They are as cheerful as though they were making a fine crop. Guess this will do for this time. Enclosed find $1.00 for the News another year. With best wishes for the News and all its readers, I am Yours, W. G. Leach.

Remember this is a Guaranteed attraction for one week beginning Aug. 22, 1910.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Janes and children, of McGregor, Texas, who have been spending several days with their parents at this place, will start for their home next Monday.

W. P. Shaw, while on a trip from his home in Cumberland county to this place with a load of wool one of his mules stepped on a copper head snake. The snake bit the mule and it was but a short time until it was so sick that Mr. Shaw had to leave it and get another mule to make the trip with.

N. R. and B. G. Roach were in Edmonton Monday. Thomas Roach was in your city last Thursday.

Mrs. Cora Bohanan is on the sick list.

Mr. Arthur Rupe, one of Breeding's prosperous farmers, was in this section last week. While here he employed the writer to build him a large tobacco barn. Mr. Rupe has a large crop of Burley and part of it blooming, but it won't be long until he will have it topped and in good shape.

Logan Roe, our blacksmith, was in Breeding last week.

Old corn is scarce in this section, but if it continues raining there will be a great deal more corn cribbed this fall than there were last.

For Sale.
